Partnering for High Value Health Care - Ted Wymyslo, MD

In health care today, we usually get exactly what we pay for: more volume, more cost, more variation in treatment and little accountability for results. We can get health care right in Ohio when we start paying for better outcomes, and over time, achieve lower total cost of care. To learn more, visit: <http://tinyurl.com/npthysf>, July 17, 2014.

Creating Population Health Strategies - Alice Stollenwerk Petrusis, MD

Better Health Greater Cleveland has led efforts in Northeast Ohio to identify and document population health strategies among its member health provider organizations and share them so that others can improve, as well as to design strategies for special populations. To learn more, visit: <http://tinyurl.com/omliddpk>, July 17, 2014.

Leading Practice Transformation - Jim Misak, MD

The pace of change in health care delivery is quickening, and patient-centered, coordinated primary care is center stage. Better Health has long been a leading proponent of the Patient Centered Medical Home model and leads efforts to optimize its impact in Northeast Ohio. To learn more, visit: <http://tinyurl.com/nuwguxZ>, July 17, 2014.

Measuring What Matters - Randall D. Cebul, MD, FACP

There's a saying attributed to Deming: "In God we trust, all others must bring data." Better Health brings data. Our growing network is committed to public reporting, because they know that timely and trusted data are the foundation for transformative change in health care. To learn more, visit: <http://tinyurl.com/qxzn2w5>, July 17, 2014.

Focusing on Disparities - Ronald Adams, MD

Achieving equitable health for all patients is a persistent challenge across the country. The burden of poor health affects our community and our economy, in addition to individuals and their families. Better Health identifies disparities, the first step to finding solutions.
